DETAILED ACTION

Response to Amendment

1. Based upon the submitted amendment, the examiner notes that claim 1 has been amended.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

1. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.
2. Claims 1-17 rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

The claims recite that the audio gateway provides 'cellular phone features' to a POTS phone. It is not clear exactly what defines a 'cellular phone feature'. For the purpose of examination, the examiner assumes a cellular phone feature is any signaling or function that can be performed or triggered by a phone on a cellular network.

Correction/Clarification is requested.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention thereof by the applicant for patent, or on an international application by another who has fulfilled the requirements of paragraphs (1), (2), and (4) of section 371(c) of this title before the invention thereof by the applicant for patent.

The changes made to 35 U.S.C. 102(e) by the American Inventors Protection Act of 1999 (AIPA) and the Intellectual Property and High Technology Technical Amendments Act of 2002 do not apply when the reference is a U.S. patent resulting directly or indirectly from an international application filed before November 29, 2000. Therefore, the prior art date of the reference is determined under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) prior to the amendment by the AIPA (pre-AIPA 35 U.S.C. 102(e)).

2. Claims 1,2,8,10,15,16 rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Tell et al (US 20060019666 A1).

As per claim 1, Tell discloses a combined POTS and cellular interface that can switch from one network to the other or use both simultaneously. The device can communicate with POTS and cellular networks (via a line switcher) and also to cell terminals and POTS phone (which inherently requires a SLIC) at the residence (Fig. 1). When the POTS phone is connected to a cellular network, the phone can perform 'cellular phone features' via the disclosed interface. The examiner reads the software

(which is inherently required in order to implement the disclosed interface) as a 'profile' to provide the cellular phone features to the POTS phone.

As per claim 2, the POTS interface inherently comprises a SLIC and DTMF interface as those are both interfaces designed specifically to implement the POTS network.

As per claim 8, the system comprises a wired phone input to the device, which inherently comprises a 'remote extender' to allow communications. Any portion of interface may be considered a remote extender.

As per claims 10,15,16, they are rejected as per the claim 1 rejection.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

3. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

4. Claims 3-7,11-14,17,9 rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Tell et al (US 20060019666 A1).

As per claim 3-7,11-14,17, Tell discloses an interface for a residence and contemplates any number of terminals (including cell phones that inherently require modems for the purpose of modulating the carriers waves for wireless transmission) that may be serviced at the residence, but does not specify every possible known protocol or standard that may be used to interconnect the networked devices (such as AT, caller ID, PCM, bluetooth, infrared, USB, RS232, DTMF).

It would have been obvious to implement any number of connections using any number of known protocols for the purpose of implementing the disclosed network. Each protocol inherently requires a respective module or modules be integrated into the system in order to translate one protocol to the next in the disclosed network.

As per claim 9, it would have been obvious to utilize a known support structure for a cellphone for the inherent advantage of supporting the device.

Response to Arguments

1. Applicant's arguments have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

2. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37

Art Unit: 2614

CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
